

CLEVELAND WAS THOUGHT DYING

New York Evening World Says He Has Cancer Of The Stomach, And Will Die.

WAS DENIED AT LAKEWOOD HOTEL

Said There That He Was Better And Improving Very Rapidly--Is Still A Very Sick Man However.

New York, May 1.—The Evening World says it is reported in financial circles that Grover Cleveland is a sufferer from cancer of the stomach, and that his case was pronounced hopeless by the specialists called into consultation by the family physician.

At the Lakewood hotel today it was said Cleveland was making very satisfactory progress and that there was no material change in his condition. The report that the former president's case had assumed a grave aspect was denied.

Twenty-second President Grover Cleveland, twenty-second president of the United States and the only democratic occupant of the White House since the Civil war, was born in Caldwell, Essex county, New Jersey, March 18, 1837. On the paternal side he was of English origin.

Moses Cleveland emigrated from Ipswich, county of Suffolk, England, in 1635, and settled at Woburn, Mass., where he died in 1901. His grandson was Aaron, whose son, Aaron, was great-grandfather of Grover. Grover Cleveland's father was a Presbyterian clergyman, who, in 1823, married Anne Neal, daughter of a Baltimore merchant of Irish birth.

Different Offices In 1863 Cleveland was appointed assistant district attorney of Erie county, holding the office for three years. In 1881 he was elected Mayor of Buffalo. Later he was elected Governor of New York state and 1881 President of the United States. He was defeated in 1888 by Benjamin Harrison, republican, who was himself defeated in 1892 by Cleveland, who made his third run for President. Since his retirement from the presidency he has lived at Princeton, New Jersey.

IS TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE OF MANILA BAY

Admiral Dewey Receives Many Letters Of Felicitation From His Friends.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., May 1.—A bushel basket would not begin to hold the letters and messages of felicitation and good wishes that poured in upon Admiral George Dewey today on the tenth anniversary of the battle of Manila bay. Many of the messages were from personal friends. Others came from admirals scattered throughout the country. The unusual number of the greetings was probably due in large measure to the appeal recently issued by the New York Alumni Association of Lafayette College, calling upon municipalities and institutions of learning throughout the United States to observe "Dewey Day" by forwarding a message of love and sympathy to the hero of Manila bay.

The conflict in Manila bay on May 1, 1898, wrought a great change in the career of the United States as a world power. However unforeseen may have been the events which followed, those in authority in 1898 were by no means unaware of the immediate possibilities of the programme which caused Commodore Dewey to hold his ships at Hongkong, where he had assembled his force of the Asiatic squadron during the latter part of February. It is now well understood that the policy of strengthening and providing these ships with ammunition was urged upon the government by Theodore Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy. In view of the more immediately interesting events close at hand the operations in the Asiatic waters were almost forgotten by the general public.

Only a faint interest was taken in the report that Commodore Dewey had been formally declared. When President McKinley issued a proclamation of war, Dewey sailed from Hongkong for Manila bay, a neighboring harbor, and there prepared for his work. The government ordered Dewey to attack and destroy the Spanish fleet. It was not known how dangerous this force might be to American shipping in the Pacific. In any event, the Philippine Islands were Spanish territory, and as such were open to attack as a means of weakening the enemy.

When the first news of the engagement in Manila bay arrived, ten years ago today, after the first wave of national exultation came a feeling of apprehension. For the first time in a great many years an American naval force had engaged a foreign enemy, and the country wondered as to the cost of the victory. It was hoped that it would be light. The early reports, relating the destruction of the Spanish fleet, indicated such a heavy loss that the people dreaded lest the details would bring tidings of a heavy sacrifice of life on the victorious side.

Commodore Dewey's prompt action in cutting the cable held off all details for days. It was not until one week after the battle, on the 7th of May, that the astounding news came that not a single life had been lost in the engagement. This remarkable disparity of results was perhaps the first revelation to the world of the great superiority not only of the American ships and guns, but of the American gunners as well. A short time later, early in July, the demonstration was repeated, off Santiago, when the fleet under Admiral Sampson destroyed the Spanish vessels fleeing from harbor, and with the loss of only a single American seaman.

In the ten years that have elapsed since the Dewey victory momentous changes have occurred. The United States has settled down to an acceptance of a new responsibility. The machinery for the evolution of a system of self-government in the Philippines has been set in motion. Schools have been scattered throughout the islands and have materially raised the standard of intelligence. The United States navy in the same period has been almost doubled in strength and the feat of sending a man-of-war on a voyage around the world has attracted universal attention and comment.

Ten years also have wrought a great change in the fortunes of men who were in command on "Dewey Day." Admiral Dewey is now the active head of the American navy. The captains, none is now on the active list. Coughlan, of the Raleigh, was retired with the rank of rear admiral, and now makes his home in New York city. Walker, of the Commodore, lives in Annapolis. Dyer, of the Baltimore, is now a retired rear admiral and lives in Massachusetts. Gridley, of the Olympia, to whom the famous command to begin battle was given; Wilkes, of the Boston, and Wood, of the Detroit, are dead. Several of the officers of lower grade who took part in the battle of Manila bay are now in command of some of the battleships in Admiral Evans' fleet, while still others are holding responsible positions as heads of bureau departments, commanders of navy yards, etc.

MONTANA OBSERVES ITS PIONEERS' DAY

Montana Society of Pioneers Prepares for Annual Celebration Today.

Helena, Mont., May 1.—Arrangements have been made for an unusually wide observance of Pioneers' Day in Montana this year. Special exercises are to be held in public schools throughout the state and a special observance is also to be held under the auspices of the Montana society of Pioneers, which organization was chiefly instrumental in having the legislature set aside the day as a general holiday.

The society of Pioneers is now working on a project to erect a suitable monument to memory of John K. Beldor, who was the official hangman of the Vigilante Committee of which formed United States Senator William P. Sanders was chairman. Beldor was one of the most potent forces in the maintenance of law and order in this section in the pioneer days. The vigilante committee, of which he was the official executioner, tried, convicted and sentenced more than a score of lawbreakers and Beldor swung all of them into eternity. The same committee regulated the affairs of Virginia City and Helena, the two earliest scenes of the discovery of gold in Montana.

FIXES DATES FOR FINIS OF WORLD

L. SCHMIDT SAYS END WILL COME IN 1914 SURELY.

QUOTES FROM THE BIBLE

Stating That the Writings of the Prophets Foretell This State of Affairs.

L. Schmidt, the missionary who is preaching at the Salvation Army barracks each night, this evening will definitely fix the end of the world at 1914, giving as his authority quotations from the Bible to prove his statement. Mr. Schmidt claims he has made a careful study of the conditions industrial and that the preparations for the greatest war of the world, when nation will be pitted against nation, religion against religion, is at hand. He believes the transferring of the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific ocean was but the first step in this war of nations. This evening he will take for his text Daniel 8:15—Thus two thousand and three hundred years; reading for a scripture lesson: Ezra 6:2, Dan. 8:3, Matt. 21, and Text, 5. Mr. Schmidt says: "I will show from these chapters that the 2300 days began in the time of Ezra and ended in 1844, and that a generation is now 70 years, which will end in 1914. The Lord tells us we know not the day nor the hour, but we do know the season. We are now in the season of it. Chapter 3:125. The seventh thousand year this earth will lay desolate and waste; all the righteous, both dead and alive, will be taken to the home which Christ has gone to prepare, according to His own words in John 14:1-3, and 1 Thos. 4:16. We are in the close of the sixth thousand year of this world's history, and as a thousand years to us so is a day to the Lord. This is all made very plain in Exodus 20:8-11 and 31:12-18, and Revelation 14:6-10. The Lord is now sending His servants out in all the world, warning every nation and kindred, and tongue, and people to repent and turn to Him before it is too late as found in Acts 2:38-47. We are just before the greatest war that this world ever saw; Rev. 16:12-19 and 17:2, in which kings and capitalists and mighty men, and horses and them that sit on them, all meet, both here and here, both small and great, will be killed. In this war the blood will come to the horses' bridle to the space of 200 miles in one place alone so great will it be. All of the nations are now preparing for that war. There are now iron cannon, guns, war vessels, ammunition, etc., made now than ever before. Old iron brings the highest price at this time; the people indeed are heaping the plowshares into swords, and the pruning hooks into spears as we read in the book of Joel in the Bible. There never was a time when the people talked more peace and safety than now, and at such a time destruction is to come upon all the inhabitants of all the earth. This great war and the seven last plagues of Revelations it will bring an end to this world."

And Taxpayers May Prepare to List
Such of Their Personal Property
Effects as Are Not Exempt.

Assessors David Conger, Bert Gage,
Frank L. Smith, C. K. Milmore, and James Clough began their duties this morning. They will be at work compiling the city rolls for about two months and as usual the effort will be made to make the assessments on an 80 per cent of true valuation basis.

There are a number of new buildings in the city so that there will be some increase in the total of the assessment. The main effort, however, according to Supervisor of Assessments Frank P. Starr, who instructed the officers here on their duties this morning, and will do the same in Beloit tomorrow, will be to properly equalize property and correct any errors which may have been made in the past. The board of review, under the new law, will probably be in continuous session for only a few days this year and not adjourned from day to day for two weeks as has been done in the past. Taxes will not be collected until next December.

TOBACCO WAR IN KENTUCKY.

Picture at top shows the second parade of the dark tobacco growers in which 25,000 men participated. Below on the left is Clarence Le May, president of the Burley Tobacco society. On the right J. B. Duke, head of the American tobacco company. Map shows where the various tobacco are grown in Kentucky.

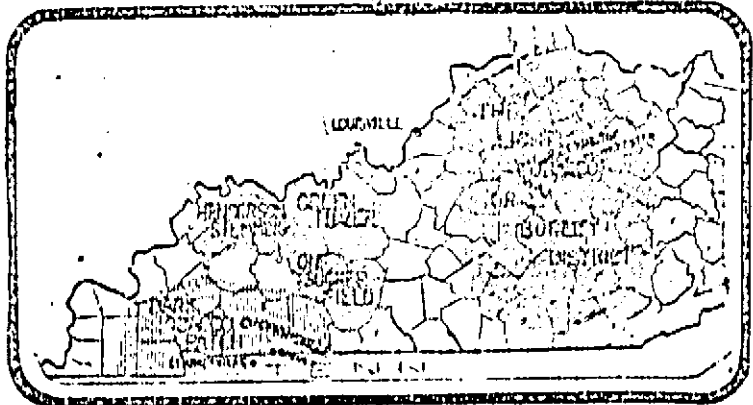

BY MAY STREETER.

(Special Correspondent.)

Never since the days of the Ku Klux Klan has Kentucky been so wrought up as it is today, over the tobacco war. The newspapers have been full of this trouble and yet few outside of the state understand the real cause and the final effect this war is having.

Briefly the condition may be summed up as follows: The tobacco trust, headed by J. B. Duke, controls the tobacco market of the world. Since gaining control the price of Kentucky tobacco has dropped from $15 and upwards per hundred pounds to as low as $1 per hundred pounds. A majority of the more far-sighted growers banded themselves together to regulate the price of Kentucky tobacco. The growers who would not join this association have been subjected to depreciation under the general term of "night riding." It is these conflicts between the affiliated growers and the growers who will not join that have attracted public attention. The result of the affiliation has been the raising of the price of tobacco from 4 cents to 11 1/2 cents per pound.

In order to understand the situation it must be understood that nature has blessed Kentucky with climate conditions of the soil which produce a tobacco nowhere else produced in the world and for certain kinds of consumption it is the best product. The man shown above distinguishes these districts clearly. The two main centers of the conflict are in the so-called Burley district in central Kentucky and the dark tobacco patch in the southwestern portion. The Burley is a tobacco which the manufacturers of plug must have. It is light in color and fine in quality and permeated with a peculiar oil which absorbs the nicotine and other ingredients with which it is prepared for consumption. In this section 160,000 acres are annually devoted to the raising of tobacco. The dark tobacco is mostly shipped to Europe, Africa and Asia. Nowhere in the world has there been found anything to take its place. The average yield of this section is 15,000 pounds annually. It is estimated that the cost of producing Burley tobacco is 6 1/2 cents, although growers themselves estimate it at 7 cents per pound. The cost of producing dark tobacco is about 5 1/2 cents per pound.

The fight is over the 1905, '06 and '07 crops. The result so far have been a partial victory for the dark tobacco district so that now most of the growers are combined and sell their crops through a central office of the association and thus regulate the price. The Burley district has a much more delicate problem to face. It has a larger area and less organization. In 1907 a 10 days whilwind campaign was instituted through the Burley tobacco district, with the result that 25 per cent of the entire output is entirely under the control of the organization. Clarence LeMay was elected president and Lathan Decker sec-

1905 crop and then the succeeding crops and shall pay a fair price for them. The result will depend entirely upon the ability of the managers to finance the farmers during this period while there is no income from their fields. It will also depend upon the amount of tobacco which the trust has stored in their warehouses.

The men who are back of the so-called night riding, while deploring the conditions, claim they have been forced to take matters in their own hands because the laws give them no protection against the trust. They are bright, well educated, intelligent men of Kentucky, who under ordinary conditions are its most law-abiding citizens. For several years they have tried to regulate the trust, but without avail, so now they are going to meet the trust on its own ground and regulate the price.

This contest in Kentucky is of great importance and will go down in history whether the growers win or lose, as a fight of the individual against a mighty corporate body. Sympathy over the country naturally turns toward the individual and many there are, both north and south, who hope to see the power of this gigantic corporation broken in Kentucky.

MIGHT HAVE PUZZLED SOLOMON.

Decision Over Which Country Squire Is Still Deliberating.

"That is a complicated question," said a statesman of a certain practical proposal. "It reminds me of a question that was once put to old Squire Briggs. The squire was noted for his long, Solomon-like head, and he was frequently asked to settle disputes.

"Squire," said a farmer to him one day at the tavern, "there's a difficult point I want you to settle, and what ever you say I'll abide by."

"Well, fire away," said the squire, good humoredly, "and I'll see what I can do for you."

"It's like this," said the man. "Blanken wants to trade farms with me, but we can't agree on terms. His land is better than mine, but I've got twice as many cranberry vines; his corn is all stacked and mine ain't, but I've got screens to four windows and two doors to the shack. There's less stones in his meadow land than there is in mine, but there's more bog."

"The man paused and took breath. Then he went on:

"Now, I won't tell you which is which, but one of us thinks Blanken's pointer dog ought to be thrown in, and the other one thinks that my hifer would just about even things up. Now what do you say is fair?"

"At last accounts the squire was still deliberating."

Kipling Wisdom.

For only women understand children thoroughly; but if a more man keeps very quiet, and humbles himself properly and refrains from talking down to his superiors, the children will sometimes be good to him and let him see what they think about the world.

TOLSTOI AND HIS COUNTRY SEAT, YASNAYA POLIANA, NEAR THE TOWN OF TOULA, RUSSIA.

Count Tolstol enjoys international fame. He has gained this through his utopian ideas, his life and his writings. Probably no other man in the world today holds the unique position of Count Tolstol.

The count is a man of much wealth, refinement and education, yet he lives a simple life, divided between his modest home in Moscow and his country estate. His life at his country estate furnishes the most intimate insight into his many-sided life, surrounded by his family, clad in coarsely woven garments, without luxury, he lives a life of the Russian peasant. The Russian peasants who surround him look up to him as their godfather and are always active in their behalf. His ideas may be summed up as follows: There should be no law; absolute freedom of the individual is the only thing that will redeem the world. Christ was a great teacher, nothing more.

Tolstol stands in direct opposition to every influence and idea of the czar. He says things which no other man in Russia dare say against the government and against the czar. This is perhaps the cause of his international reputation, which is so great that any action against him would bring dispute upon the government. Count Tolstol is nearly 50 years old. Recently he has been confined to the house, apparently by ill health and were it not for his strong constitution he would long since have passed away. Undoubtedly Tolstol's ideas are entirely impracticable, especially in Russia, where the degradation of centuries has produced a people, the vast majority of whom are incapable of self-government but Tolstol has made an impression on the world and upon Russia. His every sentiment has tended to the upliftment of Russia and while he may be too far in advance of his time, still the Russian people may well thank him as a great benefactor.

that the vast majority of the American people cling persistently to their parties. A comparatively small independent non-partisan vote is all that is necessary to change the result from one side to the other. The average republican percentage of the popular vote in the elections of 1856, 1860, 1868 and 1872 was 46.80, while the average of the democratic percentage of the vote in the same years was 47.81. The difference between the two parties was, therefore, very slight, the advantage being a trifle in favor of the democratic party, which won two of the four elections. In the past three elections of 1896, 1900 and 1904 the republican percentage of the popular vote has been 53.94 while the democratic percentage has been 43.30. There has been, therefore, in that period a rather notable swing in favor of the republican party, although in 1896 a change of about 305,000 votes from McKinley to Bryan would have given the latter a majority while in 1904 a change of about 435,000 votes from McKinley to Bryan would have given the latter a majority. It is estimated that about six per cent of the voting population by changing from one side to another controls the selection of the president of the United States.

When the post of the candidates find out how strong Taft really is they will be content to sit back and wonder why they ever considered the proposition to allow their names to be used in connection with the candidacy for president anyway.

Did you ever stop to consider how the office-holding bug strikes some people? Here are two United States Senators, one congressman and one governor all trying to beat a poor secretary of war for the job of supreme dictator of the republican policies.

This question of trying to cater to the dominant element by feeding them sugar when vinegar could have been used, may be all right in story books where the coats of fire are heaped upon the heads of the evildoers by the kind-hearted hero, but in everyday municipal politics it don't go.

It takes good hard jobs to wake men up who think they are more powerful than the state laws. A little discipline would work wonders with the lance-throwing contests that have been going on in the city council chambers lately.

There is no use to sit back and enjoy things and let someone else do the work. If a man wants to get ahead in the world he must put his shoulder to the wheel and his nose to the grindstone sometime or other in his career.

WINIFRED FIFIELD SUIT SETTLED ON BASIS OF $5,000

The Milwaukee Electric Ry. & Light Co. and the C. & M. & St. P. Ry. Co. Sharing Equally in Indemnity.

Attorneys representing the parties to the $25,000 damage action brought in behalf of Miss Winifred F. Fifield against the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. and the C. & M. & St. P. Ry. Co. for injuries sustained by the plaintiff in the collision of a street-car and a train at the Kinzie-Infine avenue crossing in Milwaukee during the month of February, 1906, recently agreed upon a settlement and the case has been dismissed by the circuit court.

It was twice carried to the supreme tribunal, on issues raised by the defendants. In the first instance the Electric Co. set up the claim that the services of the complaint by the sheriff of Milwaukee county was improper. In the second, both defendants sought to compel Judge Grimm to grant a change of venue to Milwaukee county. The plaintiff won both contentions and the trial would have taken place here at an early date had not the traction companies made overtures for a settlement. Attorneys M. G. Jeffris and Charles L. Fifield represented the plaintiff and James D. Shaw and Charles M. Rosecrance of Milwaukee, the defendants.

Miss Fifield, who is a daughter of Frank L. Fifield, was a passenger in the street car at the time the accident occurred and sustained injuries which kept her confined in the hospital for many weeks. The settlement was made on a basis of about $5,000, each defendant sharing equally in the indemnity.

THIS IS DAY SET FOR ROLLER TRIAL

But the Kelly-Springfield Steam-roller is the Only Contestant on the Scene.

According to the provisions of the order passed by the city council, the roller-trial contest between the Kelly-Springfield steam-roller and the Austin-Western motor machine was to begin today. The Kelly-Springfield machine was unloaded from the cars last evening and was placed in commission back of the city hall. Its prospective rival, the Austin-Western, had not loomed up on the horizon as late as this afternoon. Can there be a contest with only one machine participating? The city is bound by the order to purchase the winner and hence the city attorney may be called upon to decide another perplexing question.

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.
Business is a game in which the worker and not the shirker gets rich. To advertise successfully you must have brains, tenacity, and courage. Read the article in this issue headed "If It Fits, You Wear the Cap." It is one of a $1,000 series written by Herbert Kaufmann. It's pithy, well told, and interesting.

A Certificate of Deposit is the only form of investment by which money may be always at the investor's call and on which he may still collect interest for four or five months.

Very often it will occur that a deposit which is made in the savings department for six months is withdrawn at the end of four or five months for investment. In such a case with one of our certificates two per cent interest is paid for the time the deposit has been with us.

You should consider this if you have idle money awaiting investment.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF MANILA.

Picture at upper left shows the wreck of the battleship of the Spanish fleet; upper right the cruiser Isla de Luzon. The diagram at the lower left shows the comparative strength of the United States navy in 1898 and in 1908. At the lower right is a snapshot recently taken of Rear Admiral Dewey and his wife in one of their drives about Washington.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—Admiral Dewey is today the center of honor and affection in America. Ten years ago this morning his squadron silently advanced into Manila bay and at daybreak began that struggle with Spain which by noon resulted in the total destruction of the Spanish squadron in the Philippines.

Today America rejoices in the successful termination of the Spanish-American war, but no incident of the entire war was more dramatic than the capture of Manila. On April 26 Dewey received Secretary Lodge's famous message, which will bear repeating today. It read as follows: "Dewey, Asiatic Squadron:

"War has commenced between the United States and Spain. Proceed to Philippine Islands. Commence operations at once, particularly against the Spanish fleet. You must capture vessels of destruction. Use utmost endeavors.

"LONG." Dewey knew this meant business and he immediately proceeded to Manila.

Admiral is living a retired, quiet life in Washington, enjoying daily the knowledge that his life's work has been well done.

A marked change has taken place in the American navy of today. We find now concentrated on the Pacific coast a squadron of battleships, many individual boats of which are stronger than Dewey's entire squadron. As is shown in the diagram, which compares the Alabama and the Delaware, we see that the tons displacement is nearly doubled in the last ten years, for whereas the Alabama had 11,325 tons displacement, the Delaware's estimated displacement will be 20,000 tons. We find that the total length over all has increased from 368 feet on the Alabama to 519 feet on the Delaware. The Alabama was fitted up with four 13-inch rifles and fourteen 6-inch rifles. The Delaware has ten 12-inch rifles and fourteen 5-inch rifles.

The United States may well be proud of her naval achievements of the past, but could the Spanish war be fought again with our increased navy and army there is no question but that it could be done much quicker and with less loss of life. Those factors are so clearly seen that hesitation on the part of congress to get in securing new battleships seems entirely uncalled for.

United States. When Senator Aldrich drew up his bill it was the general belief that the people of the United States would not stand for any meddling with the currency laws, other than some slight changes which would make our currency more elastic and better able to adjust itself to an over-stringent money market. It now develops that the more thinking financier and business man over the country feels that our currency laws are not wholly adequate and that radical changes should be made. This sentiment has been growing until now the bill of Charles Fowler, providing for a currency commission, to study into the currency laws carefully, seems to meet with general approbation.

Representative Vreeland made a long argument before the committee in favor of his bill, saying he thought it would be criminal negligence for congress to adjourn without passing some measure of protection in event of another panic this fall. He did not think, however, that a panic was imminent. Mr. Vreeland said his bill was an emergency measure only and he favored the appointment of a permanent banking and currency law. The house committee, after tabling Vreeland's bill, voted to report favorably the bill recently introduced by Charles Fowler, providing for a currency commission to consist of 33 members, 11 members of the senate, 11 members of the house and 11 others, who must be citizens of the United States.

Washington.—Perhaps the most important measure which has held the attention of congress during its present session has been in regard to currency reform. Senator Aldrich was on hand with his reform bill when congress opened. This has been so distorted by amendments that Aldrich himself would scarcely recognize it as his own bill and does not favor many of the amendments.

Representative Vreeland had a substitute bill, which has just been laid on the table.

The action of the committee was taken after a meeting lasting all day.

BENEDICTION OF POPE RECEIVED

LETTER FROM CARDINAL DEL VAL READ TO CATHOLICS.

MAYNOOTH ALUMNI MEET

Graduates of Famous Irish College Attend Mass—Celebration to End Saturday with Great Parade.

New York, May 1.—Thursday's festivities in connection with the celebration of the centenary of the Roman Catholic diocese of New York were divided between St. Patrick's cathedral and Holy Cross church. At the cathedral there was a pontifical mass for the deceased prelates and priests of the diocese. Bishop O'Connor was the celebrant and Auxiliary Bishop Cusack preached and read the following letter from Pope Pius X:

"Rome, April 23, 1908.—Archbishop Farley, New York: The Holy Father thanks you for your telegram expressing good wishes of cardinals, archbishops and priests assembled in New York on the auspicious occasion of the one hundredth anniversary of the erection of the diocese of New York and gladly grants to the most eminent, the most reverend and venerated fathers and faithful of your diocese, so noted for steadfast attachment to Holy church and to the See of Peter, his apostolic benediction. Cardinal Merry del Val."

Maynooth Alumni at Mass. At Holy Cross church the Maynooth alumni of the United States, comprising those priests and prelates who were educated in old Maynooth college, Ireland, attended a solemn mass where, in the course of a brief sermon, Cardinal Logue remarked:

"I now love America as much as I do my own land. It is a great country and has a great people."

Later in the day there was a dinner at the Hotel Astor and an illuminated address was presented to Cardinal Logue and Bishop Browne. The day's rejoicing closed with a reception at the Catholic club. There were gathered to meet Cardinal Logue and the other prelates public officials and men in many professions. Mayor McClinton, Thomas P. Ryan, Lewis Nixon, P. F. Collier and John D. Crumhus were among those present.

Great Parade on Saturday.

With a procession of 40,000 laymen, that will be reviewed by two princes of the church, the entire American hierarchy and numerous public officials, the celebration will be formally closed Saturday afternoon. Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Barry will be grand marshal of the procession.

Next week Cardinal Logue will visit Cardinal Gibbons in Baltimore and still later will go to Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis and possibly to Pittsburgh.

NO MUSIC IN THE JAPANESE.

As a People They Are Not Moved by Melodious Sounds.

There is no music in Japan except that made by the birds, the wind, the running streams and the roaring waterfalls, says a writer in the Milwaukee Sentinel. The people have no music in them, they do not sing or even whistle, or play any musical instrument worthy of the name. They are not moved by the "concert of sweet sounds." They have a few rude instruments, but the sounds they give forth are harsh, inharmonious and altogether unmusical. There is a dinner band at the Grand hotel, Yokohama, and there was a brass band at the Imperial garden party, the only bands I have heard in all Japan. Even at the geisha dances, the most popular in Japan, the music is primitive and discordant. And the dances are worse than the music. It is not in any sense dancing as we know it. It is simply a series of postures, accompanied by the flitting fans, flags, or handkerchiefs, but lacking the motion

WHITE DEER WAS STONE DEAD.

Remarkable Animal Encountered by Hunters in the Woods of Maine.

Speaking of blindness, deafness and dumbness among cats and dogs, Dr. H. D. Gill, veterinary surgeon and horseman, told incidentally of a remarkable white animal, a deer, that was once encountered by two friends of his who were hunting near Moosehead lake in Maine.

Out with a guide, the hunters came to a spot from which they could see within shooting distance four deer grazing, one of the four being white, an albino. The hunters fired and shot two of the deer of natural color, the third one at the report of the guns springing away to safety, while the white deer remained stock still.

Ambition and Ability.

Men's ambition is generally proportioned to their capacity. Providence seldom sends any into the world with an inclination to attempt great things who have not abilities likewise to perform them.—Johnson.

But One Kind of Right Action.

Rightness expresses of actions what straightness does of lines; and there can no more be two kinds of right action than there can be two kinds of straight lines.—Herbert Spencer.

Hadley Will Run for Governor. Jefferson City, Mo., May 1.—Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general, Thursday authorized the publication of a letter which he mailed Wednesday night to Walter S. Dickey, chairman of the Republican state central committee, announcing that he will accept the Republican nomination for governor if his health permits.

The Art of Pleasing Them. "The chief thing is to give your husband what he wants," says a woman learned in the ways of pleasing men, "whether you think he ought to have it or not. A sick man or even a half-intoxicated man who thinks you are the most wonderful woman in the world is better than a healthy, sober man who never comes home or has nothing to say when he does."

Mothering Day. In olden times there was one day in Lent called "Mothering day." On that day all sorts of celebrations were given in honor of the mother of a family. It was a pretty custom, and it is a pity it has been abolished.

And Is Much Less Noble. It costs more to revenge injuries than to bear them.—Bishop Wilson.

ELBERT HUBBARD'S CARICATURE OF HIMSELF.

The versatile Elbert Hubbard, chief of the Roycrofters at East Aurora, N. Y., has this month commenced the publication of a second magazine bearing the curious title of "The Frau." Hubbard is famous wherever English epigrams are read, for he possesses a facility of speech and pen which passeth all understanding. For several years his little monthly messenger of protest, "The Philistine," has been an interesting contribution to the magazine literature of the era. Now comes an enlargement of Hubbard's magazine ideas. He says "The Frau is 'not for mummies.' Nothing from the desk of Hubbard is for mummies. The back cover of the initial number of the new 'magazine of animation' bears this interesting likeness of the interesting publisher, Frau Elbertus himself.

Strange.
"How does it seem to be divorced?" asked the curious young thing. "Well," replied her wise friend, "it seems a little strange at first. It was quite a while before I could get used to sitting down to supper and not having any one to kick about the food."—Detroit Free Press.

Strictly Hand Tailored Suits

are Hirsh Wickwires. They are made in a factory where men sit cross legged and sew each stitch by hand. No machinery enter into the construction of these splendid garments. Is it to be wondered at that a Hirsh Wickwire suit will wear three or four years and still be good? The fabrics and colorings are perfect and the moment you slip into the coat or pants you are impressed with that certain exclusiveness in fitting qualities which is found only in hand tailored, hand made clothing. They are the equal of $50 made to order suits, cost you only $20.00 to $30.00.

Young Men Like the Sophomore Clothing

COOPER MET USUAL SUCCESS IN PITTSBURG

Received Thanks from Hundreds While in the Smoky City.

The following article, taken from the Pittsburgh Press, describes the results of L. T. Cooper's visit to that city, and the effect of his new preparation as told by people who had become convinced of the soundness of Cooper's theories with regard to the human stomach.

Cooper believes that the human stomach in civilized races has become greatly weakened. He claims that most of the health of the present generation is due to this fact. The article is as follows:

"L. T. Cooper is meeting with the same astonishing success in Pittsburgh as in other cities. For the past few days many thousands of Pittsburgh people have called at his headquarters to talk with him.

"Cooper's prophesy, made upon his arrival, to the effect that before he left Pittsburgh thousands would realize that his theory is correct and would come and thank him for what his medicine had done, is rapidly being borne out.

"On Monday an astonishing number of people called to express their gratitude to Mr. Cooper. Judging from what some of these people had to say to a Press reporter, when interviewed, Cooper's claim that the human stomach is degenerate is distinctly verified. "One of the most unusual statements was made by Mr. C. W. Woods, of 103 South Highland Street. He said: 'For four years my wife was in very poor health. She was weak and thin, with a bottle dash and cough. Physicians said she had consumption, and I was inclined to believe them. It certainly looked as though her days were numbered, and there appeared to be very little ground for hope.

"Shortly after Mr. Cooper came to Pittsburgh I began to hear of wonderful results that had been obtained by persons who had tried his medicine, so I got some for my wife. She had taken it only two days when she was relieved of a tapeworm 42 feet long. She began to improve immediately—has gained seven pounds since she began taking the medicine. She feels splendid and looks very much better. If any one doubts this statement I would be pleased to have them call at my house and verify it."

The Cooper remedies are becoming justly famous. We sell them,"

Flat Chested Women Read This

It's An Easy Matter For Any Woman To Have A Stylish, Attractive Figure Without Drugs or Tiresome Exercises.

The difference between these two women is neither a slight difference nor a matter of clothes. It's just a case which illustrates perfectly what a good corset will do for a woman's figure, no matter how flat chested she may be. The corset makes the figure every time.

If you are one of the thousands of thin, flat chested women who have done perhaps for years, and wasted your arms and kicked your feet until you were almost blind in the face in a vain effort to "develop your form," just read this article.

The prescription you need is neither drugs nor exercises, but just plain common sense in dress. It isn't necessary for you to have the form of a hippopotamus to have a good figure.

Garments that fit well and also allow a good support, properly adapted to your figure just as it is now, will make you as stylish in appearance as the woman who is said to be more than you, and who, it is more than probable, would be to change places with you.

Get a good corset and you will have a good figure.

You can chalk that down as true every time. And a good corset, mind you, doesn't mean a expensive corset. You can pay $25 for a corset, or you can get a better corset, any more than you can get a better horse, than you will from the old famous Kable Corset, which sells for $1.00 to $2.00, according to style, etc.

There is a Kable style for every figure and every sort of woman or dissimilarity could wish, and they are all as near perfect perfection as you will ever see in the world. It doesn't matter what sort of a figure you have—short, long, scatter thin—there is a Kable style for you, and it's the best that money can buy.

Kable corsets are not only correct in style, but in quality, workmanship, materials and fittings they are the best the market affords. Every Kable corset has the absolutely non-stretchable fabric. This is the greatest improvement known to modern corset making and is found in Kable corsets only. There are no brass eyelets in the Kable. You save money in buying the Kable, for that the next corset you buy is a Kable. You will not be disappointed.

The new Kable style book is now ready. It shows styles for every figure and will be sent free upon request. Address Kable Corset Co., Dept. 22, Chicago. This book will help you get the best out of your clothes.

S.S.S. FORTY YEARS SUCCESSFUL SERVICE

When a medicine has stood the test for a period of more than two generations and is then more popular than ever, there can be no doubt of its merit. This is the record of S. S. S. Its period of existence is marked by a long line of cures of blood and skin diseases of every character, and its value in the treatment of such troubles has become so well known that it is today the most extensively used blood medicine on the market. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases and all other troubles due to an impure or poisoned condition of the blood, S. S. S. has no equal. It counteracts and drives out the poisons, humors and germs, cleanses the system of all unhealthy matter, cures the disease permanently and restores strong, robust health. Where the blood is weak or anemic, and unable to furnish the body with the nourishment and strength it needs, S. S. S. supplies it with the healthful properties and acts splendidly in toning up and reinvigorating the system. It goes down to the very bottom of all blood disorders, and in this way reaches inherited taints on which the ordinary blood medicines have no effect. Not only is S. S. S. certain in its results, but it is at the same time an absolutely safe remedy. It is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of known healing and curative value. It does not contain the slightest trace of mineral in any form to damage the delicate parts of the system, and may be used by children with the same good results and perfect safety as by older people. It is not an experiment to use S. S. S.; it is a remedy with a record and one that has proven its worth by its forty years of successful service. If you are in need of a blood purifier for any cause begin the use of S. S. S., write our physicians and they will send you a book concerning your trouble, and will give without charge any special medical advice that is required.

Deep Breathing. A woman who has learned deep breathing almost always is a good sleeper, for nerves and mind are kept in healthy condition by the good chest expansion. Then, too, there is an absence of facial wrinkles and lines, and she is apt to keep her freshness long after the time that most women lose it.

Takes Time. It is true that the civilized world is gradually shedding its superstitions, but the process is slow. We have in this country the finest hospitals in the world, surgery and pathology are in a high state of development, but we have countless citizens, of more or less education, who carry potatoes in their pockets to cure rheumatism.

GIVEN ONE YEAR IN CHICAGO BRIDEWELL

Former Madison Boy Gets Into Trouble in Chicago—Passed Bogus Checks.

Howard Mark Ogilvie, formerly a student at the university of Wisconsin and whose eloquence and subsequent alleged suicide in Lake Michigan, near Evanston, gained him a notoriety that cannot be overestimated, was sentenced to a year in the house of correction, Chicago, on a charge of passing bogus checks. It is said Ogilvie after his bogus suicide attempted other western universities under an assumed name, where at each place he is alleged to have swindled members of his fraternity. He was arrested in Philadelphia under the name of Sumner T. Osborne.

Young Ogilvie is a son of Robert Ogilvie, for many years a leading dry goods merchant in Madison and later an importer of Chesapeake horses. His father and mother separated several years ago, both later marrying. This is not the first serious young Ogilvie has been in and he was arrested in Milwaukee several years ago barely escaping sentence at that time through the efforts of friends. He has also bankrupted several firms of his father in Janesville for small sums of money on different pleas. A year ago he passed a number of bad checks in Madison just before his fake suicide.

GREATEST CONCRETE BRIDGE IN THE WORLD TO BE ERECTED AS A MEMORIAL TO HENRY HUDSON

New York.—The plans and designs for the new Henry Hudson memorial bridge to be erected across the famous river on which Henry Hudson's little craft, "Half Moon," sailed 200 years ago, will be far the largest and most elaborate concrete bridge in the world. The architects have been working on this for some time, and the plans are now practically completed. The bridge when completed will have a span of 703 feet, a width of 70 feet, and the rise of the arch will be 177 feet, the total length will be 2,840 feet. The largest single arch bridge in the world is over the Niagara river below the falls, and has a span of 840 feet. This is of steel. The largest concrete bridge in existence are the Gruenwald bridge at Munich, with a span of 230 feet; the Walnut Lane bridge at Philadelphia, with a span of 233 feet; the Luxembourg bridge at Paris, with a span of 278 feet, and that of St. Louis, with a span of 295 feet. It is a great jump from these bridges to the 703 foot span of the Hudson Memorial bridge.

Many engineers have claimed that a concrete structure of this gigantic size is impracticable, but with the care to be used in this bridge there is no possible chance of collapsing, and it will endure through the ages as a great memorial, and will last as long as the pyramids of Egypt.

SPEAKER CANNON YIELDS

WILL PERMIT ACTION ON TWO IMPORTANT BILLS.

Anti-Injunction Law and Amendment to Sherman Anti-Trust Act Will Come Up.

Washington, May 1.—Representative Townsend of Michigan has received the assurance of Speaker Cannon, conveyed through Representative Watson of Indiana, the Republican "whip" in the house, that the speaker is not adverse to action at this session of congress on an anti-injunction law and a law to amend the Sherman anti-trust act, and that bills for the purpose will be reported within a few days to the house from the judiciary committee.

This action grew out of a step taken by Mr. Townsend to obtain the signatures of enough Republican members to call a caucus to commit the majority favorably on such measures.

The statement was made Thursday by a prominent Republican in the house that a movement is on foot, backed by between 30 and 40 members of the majority, to refuse consent to the passage of any financial bill at this session until assurance has been given that something will be done towards placing wood pulp on the free list.

Consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was resumed in the house. Mr. Townsend of Michigan offered an amendment increasing from $50,000 to $350,000 the appropriation for the enforcement by the interstate commerce commission of that clause of the Hepburn act directing the commission to cause to be made examinations of the accounts of the interstate railroads of the country to determine whether that law is being violated, and to make public the results of such examinations. After a debate lasting four hours, the amendment was agreed to.

The house disagreed to the senate amendments to the district of Columbia and pension appropriation bills and sent those bills to conference.

FROST IN THE NORTHWEST.

Fruits Damaged in Iowa, Missouri and Wisconsin.

Keokuk, Ia., May 1.—Heavy frosts in southeastern Iowa, northeastern Missouri and western Illinois Wednesday night badly damaged strawberries, but peaches and hardy fruit are safe.

Carthage, Mo., May 1.—There was a heavy frost here Wednesday night and it is believed much damage to fruit was done.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 1.—Killing frosts are reported in North Texas counties and extending as far south as Lampasas, 100 miles south of Fort Worth. Garden truck and grain crops have been damaged, but fruit is not seriously affected.

La Crosse, Wis., May 1.—A killing frost was reported Thursday throughout western Wisconsin and southern Minnesota. Thousands of acres of garden truck, hundreds of flower beds and other green products were blasted by the frost and ruined for the season. Strawberry plants are frozen and wilted.

DARING EXPRESS ROBBERY.

Two Bandits Overpower Messenger and Get Four Bags of Money.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1.—Two train robbers, who evidently boarded the New York & St. Louis express on the Pan-handle railroad at the Union station in this city when that train left at 10:05 Thursday night, overpowered the express messenger and got away with four bags of currency, containing an amount of money as yet unknown.

The robbery was committed near Walkers station, about 11 miles west of the city. The train was brought to a sudden halt by an emergency signal from the bell rope and when Conductor William Lafferty went forward to learn the trouble he found the express messenger, N. Hoshen, bound and gagged and so frightened that he could not give any connected report of what had happened.

'MIRROR LAKE IS DRAINED.

Ideal Fishing Place Ruined by Going Out of Dams.

Baraboo, Wis., May 1.—High water carried away two dams and the iron bridge on Doll creek Wednesday night, putting two large flouring mills out of business.

The going out of the dams also drained Mirror lake, one of the most picturesque spots in Wisconsin. This was an ideal fishing place and all game fish were swept into the Wisconsin river. Several boat houses were also carried away. The damage is heavy. The dams and bridge will be rebuilt, but it will take several years to put the fishing on the basis it was before the dams went out.

Fatal Duel in Alabama.

Birmingham, Ala., May 1.—Dr. J. E. Garrison shot and killed J. D. Williams, an electrician, Thursday at Flat Creek in a duel. Dr. Garrison recently moved away from Flat Creek and came to Birmingham. Had blood existed between Williams and Garrison about family affairs. A coroner's jury exonerated Garrison, who is dangerously wounded.

Becomes Demented on Train.

Lincoln, Neb., May 1.—Mrs. C. Barry of Louisville, Ky., was taken from a Burlington train Thursday and placed in the county jail. The woman apparently had become demented. She was on her way to Denver.

Don't overlook the young people in your advertisements; they will all be heads of families.

Ask for Van Schaick's Pardon.

Washington, May 1.—An immense petition, bearing the signatures of 246,800 persons, requesting that a pardon be granted to Capt. William Van Schaick, master of the ill-fated Gen. Slocum when the vessel was destroyed by fire in New York harbor on June 15, 1904, with a loss of more than a thousand lives, was presented Thursday to the president and to Attorney General Bonaparte by a committee of the American Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots. The president assured the committee that the matter would receive careful consideration.

Leopards Leap Into Audience.

Baltimore, Md., May 1.—During the performance at the Zoo Thursday night two leopards jumped the barrier, landing among the audience. A boy, Louis Long, was badly clawed about the face and neck, and a panic that would almost certainly have meant the loss of many lives was averted by the prompt action of Police Sergeant Harringer in closing the exit door and allowing only one or two of the terrified people to do.

Training Imbeciles.

Given better surroundings, a considerable portion of these defectives would not become criminals at all. It is probable indeed that very many, especially of the higher grade imbeciles, might almost as easily be trained in a harmless as in a harmful direction, though all require continuous regulation and control from outside.—Lancet.

HOGS GOT HALF A TON OF BUTTER EVERY YEAR.

Herkimer, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1906. Did you ever feel like kicking your own self? I have felt like that every time I think of what I have been throwing away for the last twelve years. Six tons of butter carried to the hogs in that time! I made 315 lbs. per cow in 1904, deep setting; 368 lbs. per cow in 1905, using Sharples Dairy Tubular. 53 lbs. per cow for 20 cows makes 1060 lbs.; this, at 28 cts. makes about $298.40. I guess the Sharples Tubular has paid for itself all right. Skim milk worth double, too.

WILLIAM MCKENROW.

A letter-like the above pretty nearly tells its own tale, and yet many farmers are in the same fix that he was in, and many others have unsatisfactory separators.

HAVE YOU MADE A MISTAKE?

We all make them occasionally and when we discover our mistakes the best thing we can do is to correct them with as little delay as possible. Many honest people have been induced to buy inferior cream separators because of false statements made by the manufacturers and their agents. Others have bought cheaply constructed machines for which great claims are made and which are advertised as being sold at a great reduction in price by mail order houses and others who have no reputation to sustain, and who have no interest in the separators they sell other than to convert them into money. As a matter of fact these machines are sold at a higher percentage of profit than is asked for Sharples Tubular Separators. They are cheaply built, and scarcely worth anything at all. To those who have been unfortunate enough to buy these inferior machines we offer relief. We want them to enjoy using the best separator made and will give full information that you can obtain from any separator dealer or a good one write me for information regarding my exchange proposition, or better still, call and see me when in Janesville. I have a little booklet that will give full information that you can have. Drop me a postal.

President Diaz of Mexico at Upper Right, His Beautiful Wife, Their Son, Major Porfirio Diaz, Jr., and Porfirio Diaz the Third, Grandson of President Diaz.

President Porfirio Diaz is the creator and hero of modern Mexico. In his, this seventy-eight year, he stands forth a tower of strength. He is a great fighter and made Mexico by his military force, but greater still have been his victories of peace.

For 27 years he has governed Mexico with a power more absolute than any monarch of Europe. Yet he will withdraw at the close of his present term to let the people select a successor. He could have made himself king at any time during the last quarter of a century, but today he stands firmly for democratic government. He has only served so long that the people might be taught the true significance of self-government. He thinks this has been accomplished and now is willing to turn over the power to another.

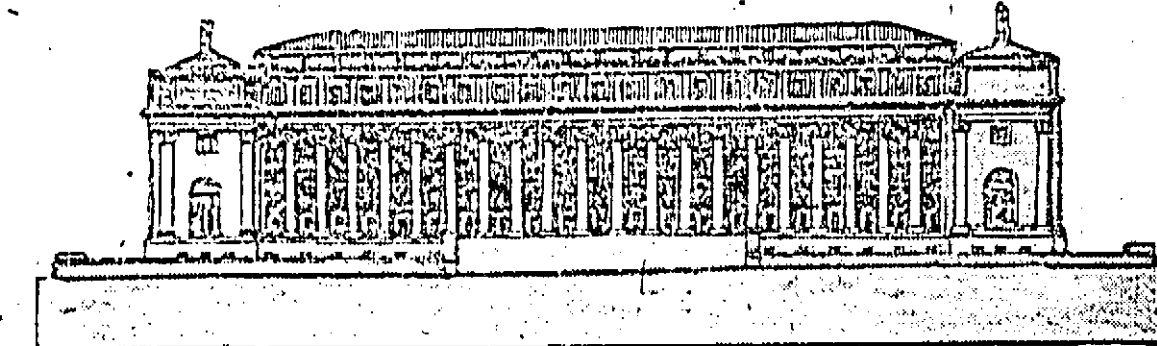

Diaz is a great student of men. He has governed wisely and today Mexico stands ages ahead of where it did when he first assumed control. His beautiful wife is honored and loved by the people of Mexico. His son, Porfirio, Jr., is an architect-engineer and has distinguished himself as a selection.

The farmer. The manly grandson is young, but shows strength in every line of face and figure.

NEW YORK'S NEW POSTOFFICE.

New York, April 30.—The design of Architects McKim, Mead & White for the new postoffice, which has been selected by the secretary of the treasury and the postmaster general, shows a structure of monumental character, which will cover an area over the Pennsylvania tracks on the west side of Eighth avenue, between Thirty-first and Thirty-third streets. The principal facade, that on Eighth avenue, consists of a row of Corinthian columns, terminated at the north and south ends by pavilions containing niches. This colonnade corresponds to the public corridor which extends the entire length of the building along Eighth avenue. The facades on the streets follow out the same general motive, with pilaster and street frontages. The government took title to the site last year, after nearly 10 years had been spent in the discussion of the uptown postoffice project, and at the same time to have it harmonize with the Pennsylvania station, now in course of construction, between Seventh and Eighth avenues. The question of the proper relation between the two buildings, as regards style materials and general proportions have been carefully considered.

The new postoffice will have a frontage of something over 400 feet on Eighth avenue, and will extend back along Thirty-first street a distance of 335 feet. Ample recesses for the building will be given by flights Telling a Distance. When you ask a Georgian man how far it is to the next plantation, and he answers that it is "a peck and a right smart screech," he is supposed to mean that it is as far as you can see from where you stand and then as much farther as a strong voice can be heard.

ADVERTISE THE TOWN

Suggestions From an Expert as to a Publicity Campaign.

BUSINESS MEN IN CHARGE.

First Important Duty is to Lay Plans for Securing a Larger Rural Population From Which to Draw Local Trade—Present Facts That Appeal.

More than a hundred cities and towns in the United States are now conducting successful advertising campaigns in their own behalf. Some Canadian cities also have themselves by this direct method of publicity. In a recent paper read at a meeting of commercial clubs by Curtis L. Mosher, manager of the publicity bureau of St. Paul, some valuable suggestions were given. Mr. Mosher's remarks on municipal advertising are applicable to any town which desires to present its attractions to the outside public. Among other things he says:

"No municipal advertising campaign can succeed until it has the united support of practical business men. Somebody must be responsible for the collection of necessary funds, even though only a moderate and economical campaign is decided upon. Some one must be responsible for the results. Otherwise the campaign will be only desultory and unsatisfactory. The best and most practical man the municipality can bring forward should be made chairman of the general committee in charge of the work or be officially designated by some similar arrangement as the manager and director in charge of the work."

"The best beginning that a municipality can make in considering an advertising campaign is to look well to its appearance, attractiveness and local improvements."

Mr. Mosher dwells upon the importance of clean and well lighted streets, good sidewalks, the removal of dilapidated buildings along business streets, a first class hotel, a public library, attractive approaches to the railway station, rest rooms for women and public drinking fountains.

"As no town or city," continues Mr. Mosher, "can grow faster than the business from its local and tributary population permits, the first important duty of local business men is to consider the possibility of securing a larger rural population on which to draw for increased business. To get this population and to build up the agricultural resources of the tributary territory is one of the important ends to be sought in the local advertising campaign."

"The merchants with country trade should get lists of friends of their customers living in distant states and send them a letter framed up something like this: 'Mr. —, who is a prosperous farmer living — miles from this town, is successfully farming — acres and this year raised such and such crops, clearing such and such profits. He has given me your name, and I am writing you to tell you of the splendid agricultural resources of this section and the excellent opportunities near this town and adjacent to the farm operated by your friend, which you may perhaps wish to utilize.' Make the letter strong and to the point. Set forth the kinds of soil and crops, the values of land, etc., so that the man who gets it will have a clear idea of the situation."

"Include with the letters lists of farms for sale within easy reach of the city; also tracts of unimproved lands."

"If the business men of the town can secure from a hundred farmer customers the names of only five farmer friends or relatives in the old home districts, it means 500 agriculturists upon whom direct advertising work may be started. Each hundred farmers added to the tributary rural population means $100,000 a year added to the trade of the city or town. Such work can be done at the cost of a few postage stamps and a little effort."

Mr. Mosher dwells at considerable length upon the desirability of keeping commercial clubs supplied with local data and information; of having county exhibits at the state fairs; of securing state and district conventions; of having products marked "Made in —."

"The most dangerous error commonly made in direct advertising for the city or town is to yield too far to the natural feeling of local pride and construct the advertisement or printed matter in such a way that as a matter of fact it is more energetic in praising and placing the city in an agreeable light than it is in presenting purely business facts and arguments that will appeal to a business man."

"Give all your forms of direct advertising a neat and substantial appearance. Decorative effects do not appeal to business men. By all means publish a booklet even though it cannot be pretentious. Fill it with facts and terse business arguments and use all the illustrations you can. Edit it carefully to see that all its statements can be proved and that there is no waste of words. It should answer the question, 'Why, as a business man, investor, farmer or citizen in search of summer outing attractions or a suitable residence or city, should I be interested in —?' This is the best guide to the proper construction of a booklet that can be given without extended comment."

PURE WATER SUPPLY VITAL.

Health of a Community is Very Largely Dependent Upon It.

Too many precautions cannot be taken toward guarding the water supply of a town. Along this line Edward Wegmann says in the Metropolitan Magazine:

The health of a community depends largely upon the purity of its water supply. Formerly it was thought that water in which chemistry failed to find any noxious elements was fit for domestic use, but in recent years the science of bacteriology has demonstrated that such water may contain the germs of dangerous diseases. These germs increase very rapidly in number and are often communicated by the contamination of a source of water supply from one infected person to a whole community. Such a case occurred in 1884-5 in Plymouth, Pa. A man who had contracted typhoid fever in Philadelphia was nursed during the winter in a house near a mountain brook which flowed into a river from which Plymouth derived its water supply. The refuse from the sickroom was thrown out the house without being disinfected. As cold weather does not kill disease germs, the typhoid germs were washed in the spring by the melting of the snow into the mountain stream referred to above, and as a consequence more than 1,000 cases of typhoid fever and about 1,000 deaths from this disease occurred in Plymouth, these cases being all confined to persons drinking the polluted water.

In 1892 Hamburg, Germany, was visited by a terrible epidemic of cholera. This city derives its water supply from the river Elbe. At the time of the epidemic the river water without being filtered was used for domestic purposes. It has been proved beyond question that the germs of cholera were communicated to the city's water supply by throwing into the river the excreta of a sailor who was sick with cholera on a vessel anchored in the Elbe. Nearly 9,000 persons died of cholera in Hamburg during this epidemic, but in Altona, a suburb of Hamburg, using Elbe water that had been filtered through sand, not a case of cholera occurred that could be traced to the drinking of the unfiltered water of Hamburg.

Home Trade Homilies.
When your next door neighbor sells the same kind of goods that the mail order catalogue advertises and at corresponding prices, you need a doctor's attention if you purchase by the mail route.

Every tub must stand on its own bottom. So also must every town. If you knock the bottom out of prosperity in your town by doing a large part of your buying from the catalogue houses, the place is calculated to fall down pretty soon.

If the farmer who does a good deal of buying from mail order concerns expects to continue selling his vegetables and other products in his home town, he should remember that it is a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Folks looking for bargains need not confine their resources to the large and luring catalogues from the city houses. Sometimes local newspapers advertise bargains to be had right at home, and it might pay to look for such things in the home papers. Then if you don't find what you want ask the merchant why he doesn't advertise.

The city mail order store is the real octopus. Its thousands of tentacles are sucking in money from every direction. Money is the blood of a community, and when it is drunk by the octopus to such an extent the town is sure to become anemic.

Catalogue Deceptions.
"No, thank you, I want what I asked for. Good day." This quotation took the grand prize in a recent contest held by a magazine in the campaign against substitution in trade. You do not always get what you ask for when you order through a catalogue. It is very easy to make an article look better in a picture than it looks in reality, and this is done frequently in the catalogues. But there is a still more insidious and contemptible way of deceiving the public which some of these concerns employ. They print both a picture and the description of a piece of furniture, for instance. According to the picture, it is elegant. Suppose it is a dining room table. The picture will show handsome five inch table legs. The reader is attracted at once. Even when he finds by perusing the description that the table has two inch legs he is not altogether dissatisfied. Quite often a person orders an article through the influence of the picture.

A Hint to the Wise.
The Paris (Mo.) Appeal, referring to the business done by mail order houses throughout the various counties in Missouri, editorially says: "Advertising is costing the merchants of Missouri county thousands of dollars every year—not that our merchants actually pay out thousands of dollars each year for advertising, but the great department stores in the cities advertise every day in the year, telling the public just what they have to sell and what it will cost. The papers carrying these advertisements and thousands of price lists go all over the county, and people see what they need advertised and order it from the city stores. Who can blame them? Merchants all over this county have the same goods and often for less money, but the buyer does not know it, so he sends off for his goods. Now, if the merchants in this county were to use the same methods that the city merchants use the mail order houses would get but few orders from old Monroe."

LETTER MYSTERY

IS CLEARED UP.

LAWYER WHITNEY WROTE THE ANONYMOUS MISSIVES.

SAYS HE MISJUDGED LOUD

Official of Lake Torpedo Boat Company Tells Submarine Probing Committee That He Is Sorry.

Washington, May 1.—The investigation into the legislative methods employed by the Electric Boat company, directed by the house of representatives on a resolution introduced February 20 by Representative George L. Lilley of Connecticut, is ended as far as open sessions of the special house committee are concerned.

The closing hours of the case were dramatic. Frederick Brown Whitney, an attorney at law, admitted that he was the author of the anonymous letters of February 13 and 15 to the representatives of the Detroit Free Press and State Senator Frank Edinborough of Michigan, which have figured so prominently in the investigation. The admission of Mr. Whitney was made in the form of an affidavit, which was read by his counsel, former United States Senator Thurston of Nebraska. Mr. Thurston stated that Mr. Whitney is ill in the Garfield hospital, this city, and that it would be impossible for him to appear before the committee.

Tells of Writing Letters.
In the affidavit, Mr. Whitney stated that from 1901 to 1904 he was clerk to the committee on naval affairs of the house of representatives; that shortly thereafter he became second vice-president of the Lake Torpedo Boat company, which position he retained until May 15, 1906; that he is now vice-president of the Lake Submarine company, an independent organization. The reasons for writing the anonymous letters were given by Mr. Whitney as follows:

"That of his own initiative he undertook what appeared to him at the time to be not improper methods to have brought to the attention of congress the methods which he had believed had been pursued by the Electric Boat company in their endeavor to secure through congressional action what might be termed exclusive legislation which would shut out competition and prevent the Lake Torpedo Boat company from competing in the United States for submarine torpedo boat construction."

Sorry That He Did It.
Reference is made to anonymous communications sent by Mr. Whitney to a New York newspaper, and the affidavit continues:

"Said deponent sent said communications to said newspapers, believing that Representative Loud had voted for an exclusive appropriation for submarines of a certain type, but that he subsequently learned that Representative Loud voted by letter for submarines without condition, and he deeply regrets the wrong and injustice so done by him to Representative Loud, who was innocent of all suspicion and determined by the deponent concerning him."

The report of the committee probably will not be delivered to the public for some time. It is the intention of the members to make an exhaustive examination of all evidence and documents submitted and should they decide to demand the production of the letters and books referred to the report will be much delayed.

FATAL POLITICAL FIGHT.

Mayor of Fort-de-France and Others Are Killed.

Fort-de-France, Island of Martinique, May 1.—A serious and fatal conflict broke out in this city Wednesday between hostile groups of politicians in connection with the present campaign for municipal elections. A band of men led by M. Labat, the vice-mayor of Fort-de-France, engaged in an armed conflict at the city hall with another band under the leadership of the mayor, M. Bouvero. The mayor was killed in the fighting. Several other men also lost their lives, and a number of persons were wounded.

Pittsburg Car Strike Averted.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1.—The threatened strike of conductors and motor men of local traction lines has been averted. At an all-night meeting the men voted almost unanimously to reject the company's proposal to cut the wages of the men one cent an hour until arbitrators make an award. Late Thursday a committee representing the men and officials of the company reached an agreement that the proposed cut should not become effective until May 9, and that the men should continue at work at the present scale, awaiting the award of the arbitrators.

Round the Capital

Information and Gossip Picked Up Here and There in Washington.

"I" Out of the White House Alphabet

WASHINGTON.—The question that has been agitating the public mind in Washington for some days has been:

"Who are we?" No, it is not a college yell; it is the demand for information concerning the president's meaning when he abandoned his old friend "I" and studied his message with references to "we," "us," and "our policies."

The idea that the president meant himself by "we" and was merely adopting a royal fashion is scouted by those who know the president and are aware of his distaste for getting into the low and vulgar class to which mere kings belong. It is generally accepted that Mr. Roosevelt was talking in the plural.

Consequently there is much curiosity to learn the identity of the members of the "We club." Careful inquiry results in establishing the fact that there are more of them than had been believed. Here is a practically

"Uncle Ike" Objects to Hotel Bills

"UNCLE IKE" Stephenson, the now 71-year-old millionaire United States senator from Wisconsin, is having an awful hard time trying to have money and be a senator at the rate of $7,500 per annum.

"Uncle Ike" is a brother of Samuel M. Stephenson, former representative from Michigan, who entered congress during the Fifty-first session just after Uncle Ike retired. When the new senator came to town in December he brought with him his whole family, even to the third generation, and the daughters-in-law and the sons-in-law.

Senatoralaphs don't happen every day, quoth "Uncle Ike," and what's the use of being stingy about spending a few extra thousands while one is getting $7,500 a year for running department errands and sitting in the senate and looking wise. So he took a fine suite of rooms at the New Willard and prepared to wear a buttonhole bouquet every day and put on all the dog there is.

All went well until the bills began to come in, and then "Uncle Ike" went to one of his colleagues and said: "Senator, got any idea where a man could find a good, modest priced boarding house?" "Where are you living now?" was asked. "At the Willard."

"Well, senator, that's the best boarding house in Washington." "I know it is good," answered "Uncle Ike," "but it costs like blazes."

"But you're the richest man in the senate, so what's the difficulty?" "Probably I've got a little more saved up than some of the boys," was the Wisconsin senator's reply, "but, gosh ding it, I want to spend it in my own way. Why, just before I came east I gave $150,000 to colleges. I expect to give some more, and I'm blamed if I want all of my substance eaten up by hotel bills."

"Uncle Ike" pounded his knee by way of emphasis and proceeded to give further vent to his indignation by hunting a newspaper and looking through the want ads to see if he could locate a place where good board could be had for a small section of his income per week.

Uncle Sam Tests All Paper He Buys

"THERE," sighed the professor, as he placed a drop of what looked like soup, but was really dissolved paper, on a glass slide, "three waves of my wand and we will see what this rascally jobber has been selling to the government."

It was in the paper-testing division of the United States bureau of standards that this monologue took place. The government printing office had sent some samples of paper to be tested. The samples were warranted to be "pure poplar pulp paper."

"That's the poplar," murmured the professor, as he dropped some liquid from a glass tube upon the small globe of soup, and watched it turn purple. "Now for the spruce."

It required but a moment to pick up another glass tube and apply another drop of colorless liquid. Under its magic influence part of the soup turned pink.

"Ha," sighed the professor, "about 10 per cent of spruce. Once more."

A third drop was applied with a third glass tube, and the soup began to show several points of bright yellow.

"Rags," said the professor, "about five per cent."

The glass slide was slipped under the end of a microscope, and the professor took a good look and jotted down the areas occupied by the different colors.

"That jobber," said he, "either does not know what is in the paper he is selling or he is a liar. But the eye of the bureau of standards sees it all."

And so, indeed, it does. Even after the wood, rags, and other ingredients have been ground up into pulp and then made into paper, the hand of science resolves them again into their original ingredients and the eye of science sees the relative proportion of each as certainly as if the professor had stood beside the pulp mill when the paper was made.

Camera Pest at the National Capital

If there is any one thing that is more numerous in Washington than statesmen, it is photographers. This fact is impressed forcibly upon strangers visiting the city, especially if they happen to be with a party on a sight-seeing expedition. The man with the camera is not at every turn. He is audacious and irresistible. He goes after his victims in a business-like way, there are no stops and delays, and before the victim hardly has time to realize what has happened the photographer has his order for a picture to be delivered that evening at his hotel.

The particular delight of the camera man is a party of excursionists. He catches them, perhaps, as they emerge from the handsome new union station, or as they come out of the capitol, or some other public building. He holds up his hands as a signal for them to halt, then he admonishes them to look pleasant, please, and the next thing he and his agent are passing through the crowd taking orders. And they do take orders, and lots of them. For what person would not be happy to take back home a photograph of himself taken with the White House, or the treasury, or the congressional library, or some other government or historical building as a background? One photographer makes crowds on seeing Washington automobiles his specialty. He usually catches them on Executive avenue at the beginning of the trip. When they get back to the starting place the pictures, printed and mounted, ready for them.

The Condition of Our Streets.—Every one who lives in this city or has occasion to come here knows what an atrocious condition some of our main business thoroughfares are in and can appreciate the great need which exists for an improvement of them. But some do not know how utterly insufficient are some of the principal thoroughfares leading out of the city. Immediately after a rain, for instance, Milton Avenue today is admirably adapted for purposes of brick making, but is a poor apology for a wagon road. So difficult do the travelers find the center of the street, that they resort to the sidewalk or to the turf on either side of it; and what is true of this avenue is likewise true of Pleasant street, and we presume of other streets. Now this ought not to be so with such prolific quantities of gravel close at hand. This put on the gravel streets to a depth of a foot or so would in a short time make smooth and substantial roads, reliable at all times of the year. We hope to see this improvement made.

Kidney Complaints.

Kidney diseases are generally found in persons whose blood is impoverished or impure, and whose nerves have not sufficient power or force to make the kidneys perform their proper functions.

The duty of the kidneys is to filter the blood, and when this fluid is filled with uric acid and malarial poisons they become overburdened with extra work. When the nerves are not strong, they fail to supply the power to do this work; then the kidneys become clogged and disease sets in. Kidney complaints usually commence with cold chills, especially in the back and loins, followed with fever and pain. The pain extends to the bladder, loins and thighs. The urine becomes highly colored or extremely light. It sometimes looks red or blood-like, with a brick dust sediment after standing; or it may be stringy or milky and filled with albumen, the most vital element of the body.

When these conditions are allowed to continue they result in one or more of the following conditions:

The most striking peculiarity is a characteristic imperfect vein, which persists in the same insect at the present time.
